On Tuesday evening before a large crowd the Mokena Robins beat New Lenox in a real thriller 8-7.

Behind the superb twirling of Al Sorenson the boys played in big league style. Features of the game were timely home runs by Bill Muehler, Dodo Lauffer, Wes Cappel and a one-handed catch of a long hit ball by H. Lorenz.

ALL COUSIN TEAM TO PLAY "ROBINS"

This Friday night, Sept. 6, at 9 p.m. the Robins will play host to a unique combination—probably the only one in existence, a team made up of Al Sorenson's cousins.

Heart Attack Fatal

Conrad Heisner, aged 50 years, section foreman on the "J" railroad and a resident of Frankfort, was seized with a sudden heart attack Thursday afternoon about two o'clock while at work on the railroad at Chicago Heights. He was rushed to the St. James hospital in Chicago Heights but died soon after.

Surviving are his wife, three sons Harold, Walter, Clarence; three daughters, Mrs. Osmar Knickrehm, Peotone; Mrs. Mable Fink, Frankfort; three brothers, George, Edward and Charles; two sisters Mrs. John Topp and Mrs. Burmeister.

Funeral services will be held this Sunday afternoon at the St. Peter Evan. and Reformed church in Frankfort.

Wendell Willkie In Joliet Sept. 13

Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential Candidate who will be in Chicago on Friday, Sept. 13, will leave the following morning, Saturday, Sept. 14 on his way to Coffeyville, Kansas where he is scheduled to begin his national campaign tour. His schedule of stop-overs between Chicago and Davenport follows:

Leave Chicago 8 a.m. Rock Island Arrive Joliet 8:50, leave Joliet 9 a.m.

Orland To Play Oak Lawn Sunday

Last Sunday Orland Park defeated Palos Park 6 to 2 at Orland and this coming Sunday Orland plays Oak Lawn for first place at Orland Park. A very fast game is promised. The following teams will play on Sept. 8: Oak Lawn at Orland, Palos at Lockport, Chicago Heights at Beverly, Evergreen Park at Worth. Sept. 15 is an open date. Sept. 22 will be the championship game between the winners of the first round and the winners of the second round.

Benefit Dance For Victims of Fire Holocust

Sunday evening, September 8th, a benefit dance will be held in the Frankfort Grove on Keane ave., one mile north of Frankfort for the Anton Nelson family of Mokena.

Three members of this family, the mother and one son burned to death when their home on Wolf Road just a short distance north of Mokena was fired by a gasoline explosion, and another son died about ten days later from burns. The tragedy occurred the forepart of June of this year. The family had no life, accident or fire insurance.

Mr. Nelson besides losing half of his family has been hard hit in a financial way and is trying to rebuild his home and pay heavy funeral bills. He has already paid large bills for nurses, etc.

He has with the help of friends been trying to rebuild his home for his two daughters and himself, and has found it pretty hard going to pay for materials, etc. A group of his friends decided to sponsor a square dance and have engaged Guy Colby of WLS barn dance fame to put on the dance. Mr. Colby will bring his own musicians and a very fine evening of fun and entertainment is assured. Just about everyone in this section knows about Guy Colby and his popular square dances.

Come and enjoy a fine entertainment and help along a most worthy cause at the same time.

Sunday night, Sept. 8th is the date and Frankfort Grove the place with the popular Guy Colby and his orchestra furnishing the music. Bring your friends and neighbors and help put this dance over big.

After the dance Sunday night, the proceeds will be figured up and after expenses have been deducted, the balance will be immediately turned over to Mr. Nelson.

New Lenox To Vote On Fire District

Residents of New Lenox township will vote Oct. 15 in a referendum on the question of whether a fire district should be established in the township to afford fire protection for the area.

County Judge Glen L. Cowing set the date for the election after approving a petition by voters of the district at a hearing Tuesday morning.

2 Polling Places
A favorable vote on the referendum would enable a board of trustees to establish a tax and purchase equipment for a fire department, probably operating mostly on a volunteer basis.

The regular two polling places in New Lenox township were designated as the voting places for the special election, and the clerks of election are expected to serve.

Attorney J. Hinton Massey appeared for the petitioners at the hearing Tuesday morning.

Frankfort Bans Political Posters

Feeling that posters of politicians and for dances and other advertising purposes tacked on telephone poles or fences inside the village limits, are unsightly, the Frankfort Village Board at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night adopted an ordinance prohibiting posters being placed on posts, etc., inside the village limits. The ordinance also prohibits writing advertising on sidewalks. The penalty clause provides a minimum fine of $5 and a maximum of $25 for violations of the ordinance.

167 PUPILS REGISTER IN MOKENA SCHOOL

The Mokena school opened Tuesday morning with the following enrollment:

Primary room, 44; intermediate room, 57; Junior high school room, 30; high school room 86, making a total of 167 students.

The faculty is as follows: Prin. Gerald Dunn, Mrs. Eleanor Ferguson, Mrs. Albert Cappel, Miss Hennessey and Miss Sara Snure.

Commission Makes

Final Report

The Mokena Zoning Commission

made their final report to the village board Tuesday night and the council accepted the report without any objections.

The next move will be the passing and adoption of a building ordinance and a building commission will be appointed.

For the present a special permit will be granted by the village clerk

on payment of a $1 fee.

Anyone planning to erect a new home, garage, making extensive repairs or building additions to present buildings must get the building permit.

When the building ordinance becomes effective the type of build-

Airmail Marks Twentieth Anniversary Of First U. S. Transcontinental Service

By WILLIAM PITTMAN

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

CHICAGO. — American aviation will lace up its Seven League boots on September 8 to observe the twentieth birthday of transcontinental airmail.

Giant strides have been taken during those twenty years. Mail planes have increased in size from small converted army planes with open cockpits to 25-ton luxury liners. Transcontinental flying time has been cut from 82 hours to less than 14.

Airports throughout the country will celebrate the anniversary of the event which revolutionized communications and travel in this country. While rapid progress has been made, great improvements have already been planned for the future. United Airlines, for example, will put a score of 25-ton luxury liners into service next year. They will cruise 228 miles an hour with their loads of 40 passengers, crew of five, baggage, mail and express.

Transcontinental airmail was born when U. S. Airmail Route No. 1 was opened on September 8, 1920. The 400 pounds of mail wouldn't fit into the plane, so the overflow was stuffed into a suitcase and strapped onto a wing.

Night flying was too dangerous, so at dusk the mail was transferred to a train. The following morning it was again picked up by a waiting plane.

The first pilots who blazed the trail across the continent had to work hard to make the trip in three days. Their single, 400-horsepower engines weren't too reliable, and the meager instruments on the dash didn't always give accurate readings. No radio beam guided the plane, lights on airfields were unknown, and weather reports were very sketchy.

Congress wasn't very impressed by this dual method of carrying the mail, and seemed inclined to discontinue the service. Seven pilots who volunteered to "save the air mail" by flying it across the continent paved the way for the world's first airway lighting system. The first flight ranks among the top in sagas of transportation history.

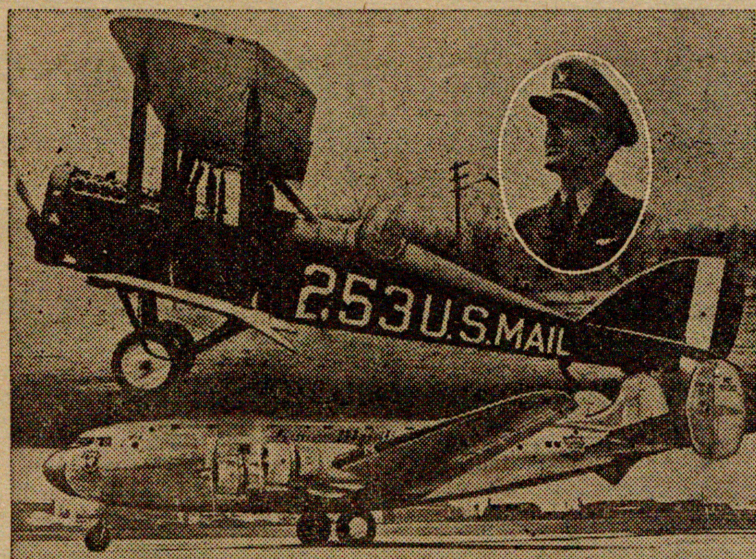

Historic Flight.

Just before dawn of February 22, 1921, a pilot headed east from San Francisco. After fighting bad weather to Reno, he turned the mail over to a fresh pilot in a fresh plane. By nightfall the mail was in North Platte, Neb., where it was picked up by Jack Knight.

He flew the mail to Omaha, following the lights of bonfires set by public-spirited farmers. Tired and ready for a rest, he learned that his relief pilot had been unable to reach Omaha, due to bad weather.

Although very weary from his flight and entirely unfamiliar with the route ahead, he decided to "take the mail through." Knight took off into the blackness of the night almost without flying aids. He picked his way from point to point, alternately studying a railroad map with the aid of his flashlight and peering through snow flurries at lights below. He pinched himself and slapped his face to keep awake.

The demonstration flight almost ended at Iowa City when Knight,

Twenty years ago Captain Jack Knight (inset) helped make the first transcontinental airmail flight. Assigned to fly several hours at night, he had to stay in the air until dawn because his relief pilot failed to meet him. The De Havilland plane shown at the top was commonly used as a mail carrier when the coast-to-coast flights were inaugurated. It had been built for service in the World war. The tremendous advance made in aviation since that time is shown by the new 25-ton United Air Line luxury liner which is pictured below. Twenty of these huge planes will be put into service next spring.

about out of gasoline and unable to locate a bonfire which was supposed to have been set for him, considered a forced landing in the darkness. At the last moment he spied a red flare. He landed near the marker to refuel and shake the hand of the night watchman who had heard his engine and had placed the guiding light on the airport.

Knight flew on, reaching Chicago at dawn. Other pilots, flying in relays, carried the mail to New York, completing the first coast-to-coast flight in 33 hours.

The flight was a complete success. Congress appropriated money for continued airmail service, and lights were installed at several of the most important airports. Nine years were to pass, however, before the lighting system was completed.

Passenger Service Started.

The United States government began turning airmail service over to private contractors in 1926. The first passenger service from coast-to-coast was inaugurated on September 1, 1927, just seven years after the first airmail trip was made. Passengers who dared to make the trip would crowd into the front cockpit—two was the maximum—where they were unable to move around or even communicate with the pilot.

Weather came to receive greater attention. In the pioneering days of the air mail, just about anyone who could guess at visibility and ceilings qualified as a "meteorologist." Pilots received telegrams from points ahead, telling them that the clerk or railroad station agent could see "pretty far," that the clouds were "high" or "medium," or, perhaps, that it was "raining pitchforks."

Aviation took a forward step when the United States government organized an accurate and efficient system of weather reporting. Today, expert meteorologists work 24 hour shifts at terminal stations, compiling their reports.

Many Improvements Made.

Other scientific help for the airlines followed rapidly. Engines and propellers were improved, new and almost human instruments appeared on the pilot's panel, and attention was focused on the importance of reliable schedules. The directional radio beam, furnishing a radio "highway" from coast to coast, and the automatic pilot with its uncanny ability to handle the controls of a transport plane, were developed after ceaseless research. The day of the ruggedly individualistic air mail pilot, flying by "instinct" and a few instruments, was over.

Pilots looked with distaste upon the first passengers who "intruded" into their machines. It didn't take long, however, before commercial aviation recognized the possibilities of passenger transport. The world's first stewardesses were employed in the spring of 1930. This experiment proved so successful that more were hired, until there are now more than 500 working on commercial airplanes in this country. At first the traditional meal on planes consisted of a sandwich, an apple and a cup of coffee; now the menus include everything from soup to a steak and dessert.

United Air Lines succeeded in reducing the cross-continent flying time in 1937 to less than 16 hours. Last month it was again cut by the Transcontinental and Western Air Lines to 13 hours, 40 minutes.

The celebration to be held on September 8 will do more than mark the twentieth anniversary of coast-to-coast air mail in America. It will mark the end of the period of air pioneering and the beginning of efficient, dependable aviation.

Bahamas Prepare for Big Winter Season As Duke of Windsor Becomes Governor

By NORMA PRESCOTT

NASSAU, N. P., BAHAMAS.—A neat problem in economics as well as an interesting experiment in social relations awaits the new governor general of the Bahamas, the duke of Windsor and his grace the duchess in Nassau. Keeping the islands on the credit side of the British ledger depends to a great extent on the tourist trade, or, as they put it more delicately here, to the vacation society.

No matter what you call it, tourists are imperative factors in the decorative but non-productive life of the islands, and preceding governors and their wives have catered to them. Certainly the presence of England's No. 1 glamour boy and the former Wallis Warfield Simpson will be an added attraction not only to the sprightly international set but to curious, and wealthy, Americans. They will be hors d'oeuvres to whet the appetites of tourists a bit skittier over ocean voyages these days.

Many estates which have been closed for the long summer season are being opened now. There's an influx of visitors now . . . would be more if the large steamers from New York came more often than once a week. As it is, plane accommodations are at a premium and the boats that DO come over, even the tiny combination freight-passenger ships, are filled to capacity.

They're expecting a big winter season. Hotels and guest houses are getting reservations 'way in advance of the ordinary season (January 1). New homes are going up and a super subdivision on Hog island, the Wintergren development for yachtsmen, has some 400 native laborers at work.

Ordinarily the social season opens here with a ball on New Year's night at Government House, the great green shuttered mansion at the top of George street where they've been painting and renovating frantically for days. Just last week the ERI Crest which embossed the tile of the swimming pool there during the governorship of Sir Bede Clifford, was removed and plain tile substituted.

Nassauvians tell you gravely that there will be no society goings on . . . "because of the war, don't you know." Perhaps no formal state balls and receptions but undoubtedly informal entertaining will be accelerated at the various clubs.

There will be no lack of entertainment, even if it is wartime, in the gay old island during the season. Just now, swimming and golfing are in favor, and that good old English institution, tea. It's grand here in the beautiful old patios—but so are the cocktail parties in walled gardens. Both Emerald Beach club and the Bahama Country club are open. The country club combines several sports and officials are positive the duke will be found there frequently. There are 27 palm fringed holes of golf, excellent tennis courts and of course the gleaming white beach and that gorgeous water.

Usually at this time the state ball room is thrown open to everybody who is anybody. Last year, because of the war, this party was omitted by Governor Dundas as it doubtless will be this January. Only definite social affair planned is the banquet for the governor general and her grace, to be given by members of the executive council and their wives. If there are any balls they will be charity balls for the Red Cross or for the blind soldiers, just as was the recent Red Cross benefit party . . . a barn dance . . . at swank Emerald club on Cable beach.

First state by state poll encourages Willkie backers . . . Wheeler disappointed because Willkie won't use isolationist issue.
(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

WASHINGTON.—In following the polls which have already started and will continue until election, it would be wise to bear a couple of points in mind by way of discounting. There is no possible way, for example, for any poll to measure the efficiency of a political machine in (1) getting the voters it knows will be on its side registered, (2) in getting the registered voters it knows are on its side to the polls on election day, and (3)—to put it mildly—in the activity of its watchers in seeing to it that its side has a fair count on election night.

The first state by state poll which most of us have seen shows, for instance, that New York and Pennsylvania both lean to Wendell Willkie by the percentage of 52 to 48. Now if you go shopping around for bets among the politically well informed, you will discover that if you want to bet on the Republicans winning that you will have to give odds in betting on Pennsylvania, whereas in betting on New York you can have even money easily, and may even find persons willing to give you a 5 to 4 wager.

Illinois Percentage.

The percentage for Illinois is stronger—53 for Willkie to 47 for Roosevelt, but obviously this poll cannot measure the efficiency of the Cook County machine of Mayor Edward J. Kelly.

But with all this cleared up, the fact remains that the first state by state poll was enormously encouraging to the Willkie backers. They have realized, as was told some time back in these dispatches, that the only possible hope for Willkie would be to carry both New York and Illinois, or to break the South. This last, this writer pointed out 10 days ago, would be extremely unlikely, despite the very large number of individual Democrats in the South who are personally for the "Democrat," as they regard him, who has the presidential nomination on the Republican ticket. The polls show that the preponderance of the Democrats in the South is even stronger than some of us had believed in view of Willkie's appeal below the Mason and Dixon's line.

Close Race Expected.

What really encourages the Republicans is that the state by state poll shows that Willkie CAN be elected! Strange as it may seem, there has been an element of doubt way back in the minds of a good many folks who are enthusiastically for Willkie. They had not been talking very much, but they had figured that it was impossible to break the South, and that New York and Illinois would be delivered to Roosevelt by the big New York and Chicago machines.

So the campaign becomes a horse race, one that is apt to keep the folks up until all hours on election night.

At least that is the view now, with full knowledge that President Roosevelt may throw a monkey wrench into the machinery any time between now and November 5 by some overwhelmingly important move in connection with the war.

Willkie No Isolationist.

Willkie is virtually ruling out two issues, what might be called the international or isolationist issue and that involving farm payments. In doing so he is vastly distressing some of his most ardent supporters. There is a considerable group that believes the isolationist issue would elect Willkie hands down. There is a smaller group which believes the agricultural policy of the Roosevelt administration is cockeyed, and if properly pounded home, would ruin third-term hopes.

Shrewd political observers are inclined to agree with the larger group, and to disagree with the smaller. In other words, they believe that Willkie could win on the isolationist issue, but that to threaten the AAA checks would mean sure defeat in the farm belt. And Willkie MUST carry the farm belt, the entire group of north central states from Wisconsin to the Dakotas and south to Kansas, to have a chance for victory.

Wheeler Disappointed.

One of the most disappointed men in the United States over the failure of Willkie to take isolation as his paramount issue is Sen. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana. Wheeler has been almost as prominent in the fight against conscription in the senate as he was when he led the fight which defeated President Roosevelt's court packing bill in 1937.

Before the Republican convention at Philadelphia, Wheeler told friends that if the G. O. P. was smart it would make the campaign on the "keep us out of war" issue.

PATTERN SEWING CIRCLE DEPARTMENT

WITH her big roll-brim hat and new patent leathers, she'll look charming as a spring morning, when she steps forth in a breezy little day frock made over pattern No. 1942-B. It's very simple, very smart, with pretty neckline and short sleeves outlined by two rows of braid, and with braid and buttons to trim the front and back panel. The waistline is fitted and small, as princess waistlines are, and a big fluttery sash bow calls attention to the waist!

This dress is particularly pretty in plaid gingham because the front and back panels are cut bias. But it's also sweet in percale printed with red cherries or pink flowers, or in white pick, with bright ric-rac braid. Certainly your daughter will want it in more than one material, when she sees how nice she looks in it! The simple diagram design is so easy that lots of girls can make it for themselves.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1942-B is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 6 requires 2½ yards of 35-inch material; 6 yards of ric-rac. Send order to:

Dental Emblem

Commemorating dentistry's 100th anniversary as a scientific practice 10,000 delegates to the American Dental association's national convention in Cleveland, Ohio, on September 9-13, will be asked to adopt the official dental emblem pictured above. Already approved by the board of directors, the new emblem has its periphery of design formed by the Greek letter "delta" for dentistry and "omicron" for Odontos (tooth). Central figure is the single serpent of Aesculapius, father of medicine. Inset photo (not a part of the emblem) shows Dr. Wilfred Robinson, association president-elect.

Tin Shortage No Threat to United States Security

NEW YORK.—A searching study of military and domestic requirements for tin in the United States, by the magazine Steel, reveals that in spite of the fact that our consumption during 1939 was 70,460 tons out of a world consumption of 166,500 tons, almost 50 per cent, and that our domestic production was but 134 tons, we have little to fear from a tin shortage that could be caused by England's capitulation or inability to continue supplying our refined tin requirements.

About 43 per cent of the world's tin is refined under British political control. Ores and refined tin come principally from Malaya, Siam, Dutch East Indies, Bolivia and Nigeria. Some of the domestic tin comes from domestic refining plants, but these are entirely secondary and might soon be partially or even completely exhausted.

MOKENA

Morry Larson and A. C. Hall have gone on a fishing trip to Lake Chetek, Wis.

A marriage license has been issued to Vernon W. Hansen of Frankfort and Lucile A. Lauffer, Mokena.

Mrs. Wm. Semmler entertained in her home the Missionary Society of the Trinity Evang. Church of Joliet Wednesday afternoon. She was assisted by Mesdames Braatz, Viewig and Wise. Thirty ladies were present. The study lesson was on the subject, "Share Croppers". Refreshments were served in the basement.

Mrs. Rene Guindon received word that her sister, Sister Mary Natia fell recently and fractured her knee cap. She is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet.

The Girl scouts met with their leaders, Mrs. Albert Cappel and Miss Ada Semmler Tuesday evening. They practiced the songs they will sing at the Mokena Homecoming.

The Bickley family residing in the Krapp double house are moving to Frankfort and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Haage are moving in.

Midget auto promoters are trying to find a suitable place in Mokena for the operation of a midget auto race track. Wednesday night a man from South Chicago brought a midget racing car in a trailer to the Robinson field south of town and parked the trailer near the backstop. He tried out the field to see if it might be used for a track. He drove the midget racer so fast that he was unable to slow up or miss the parked trailer and crashed into it. Both the midget racing car and trailer were badly damaged, but the driver fortunately escaped injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Braun and Mr. and Mrs. John Balaz have returned from a trip to Mauston, Wis.

Mokena Zoning Commission Makes Final Report

The Mokena Zoning Commission hereby submits a final report on a Zoning Ordinance pursuant to the State statute and as directed by the Village Board on June 4, 1940 creating the Zoning Commission, and on June 4, 1940, confirming the appointment of the members of the Commission.

As specified in the State law, it is the duty of the Zoning Commission to recommend the boundaries of districts and appropriate regulations within such districts for consideration and adoption in ordinance from by the Village Board. Such regulations apply to land lying inside the limits of the Village.

In order to provide a proper basis for such zoning regulations and districts as might be established, the incorporated land of the Village was surveyed and mapped to show the location and present use of all buildings and land.

Six meetings were held by the Commission, three were spent in the field inspecting present uses and proposed district boundaries. With that information and the personal knowledge of the Commission members as background, with the purposes of zoning in mind, and after making due allowance for existing conditions conservation of property values, directions of building development and the present use of property, all to the best advantage of the Village, a comprehensive zoning plan was drawn showing boundaries of residential, business and industrial districts and appropriate regulations were developed to be observed and enforced therein. The Zoning Ordinance, including text and map showing the zoning districts, have been completed and considered at public hearing in the Village where interested persons were heard thereon, held on August 12, 1940, hearing called 7:30 p.m., adjourned 8:30 p.m. Copy of the notice giving the time and place of hearing is attached.

NYA Aids Will County Students

Part-time jobs provided by the National Youth Administration enabled 305 youths in Will county to return to high schools this semester it was announced today by Mary Stuart Anderson, NYA Administrator for Illinois.

These young men and girls, students in tax-exempt schools, were provided part-time employment after school hours under the NYA program which was established to aid youths between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, to remain in high school and college. In Illinois, more than 26,000 students in 956 high schools and 74 colleges are expected to be benefited in the 1940-41 year.

The Illinois allocation of funds for the NYA student Work program for the current year was $726,269 of which approximately $1,374 will be spent in Will county monthly.

"School authorities in each community will be responsible for the selection of the students to be employed and for the establishment of suitable types of work activities," Administrator Anderson said. "Committees of educators in each state will work with local school officials to insure the maintenance of adequate standards of workmanship."

"Students are selected on the basis of proved need and demonstrated scholastic ability and earn between $3 and $6 a month. During the last school year the students employed by NYA came from families having average annual incomes of $557."

Although they are required to work a given number of hours each month, in addition to their regular studies, NYA employed students in average grades, Miss Anderson said.

SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Herman Englehardt was very much surprised last Sunday when a group of relatives came to remind him of his birthday. The afternoon and evening was spent by playing cards and games of all kinds and at five o'clock a weenie roast was enjoyed by all.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Christian Keuch, Sr., of Orland; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keuch and son; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keuch and family; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bettenhausen and family of Tinley Park; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keuch and son of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. Plyme of Morgan Park; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Frundel and family; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Koehler of Blue Island; Mr. and Mrs. Christian Keuch, Jr., of Worth and Miss Katherine Oetzer of Beverly Hills. At the close of the day Mr. Englehardt was presented with a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Willman returned from New York City the past week where they spent the holiday and visited the New York Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hick and daughter Irma spent the holiday week end in Tomahawk, Wis. The grain crop is late there this year and much grain has not been threshed yet.

Mrs. George Schanz and Mrs. Paul Yarmark have just returned from the Wisconsin Dells. A grand time was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Vogt returned Sunday from a two weeks vacation trip spent in Canada. A most wonderful time is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewald R. Teske, son Elmer and daughter Luella of Truman, Minn., have been visiting here the past week with the former's mother who is over eighty years old, but is still very spry.

Even at her advanced age she is able to operate a lawn mower and mow her lawn.

Before arriving in Tinley Park, the Teske family stopped off at Charles City, Iowa to visit with Mr. Teske's sister, Mrs. Henry Hannum.

They have also visited with Mokena relatives.

Mr. Teske reports very good crops this year, but a very rain fall the past few weeks. He brought samples of flax and oats which were water soaked and started to sprout again. Farmers who did not thresh their crops before the heavy rains lost their entire crops as the flax heads and oats are empty of any grain. Flax has been quite a staple crop and has been bringing $1.50 per bushel. Flax straw brings about $1.25 a ton.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Oulman of Mercer, Wis., have been guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Oulman the past week.

Members of the Tinley Park Legion Post who are members of the Blue Island Legion drum and bugle corps took part in the big parade and contest in Blue Island on Labor Day. A number of other Tinley Park people also attended.

Mrs. Leo Lawrence and sons have been visiting in Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Keene of Chicago have been guests in the J. L. Oulman home.

The Village Board will meet in regular monthly meeting next Tuesday night.

Postmaster and Mrs. Paul Rauff have returned from a few weeks vacation spent in Duluth, Minnesota and other northwestern points.

Peter VanBrussell, popular Tinley blacksmith, has returned from a trip to Tenn.

Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Hedler who have been visiting with Tinley friends for several weeks, have returned to their home in Newago, Michigan.

A new family has moved into the Feigel home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mancke, Jr., spent the holidays in Detroit.

Wm. Rauch and family are visiting with relatives in Lakefield, Minn.

A number of Tinley Park people attended the funeral of Mrs. Fred Sauerbeir of Blue Island held in

IT'S GREAT TO BE AN AMERICAN!

A man died last night . . . died with an arm torn away, his stomach contorted by short rationing. . . died writhing with his face turned into earth churned soft by the feet of troops. He lies there still, powerless now to hear his young son crying, to stop the leather-heeled marauder who sacks his home, to see the flames leap up as they spread across the open town he left so recently.

But he, the dead soldier, was no American.

Too bad, that. If this had been his country he might have sat in the ball park last night and watched the great DiMag blast one over the left field fence. Or he might have heard Bing Crosby on the radio. He'd have come home from work, walking with his coat over his arm. . . or he'd have stopped a bus, or an elevated, or a street car. Or he'd have driven his own jalopy, yelling "howdy" to Jim Brown as he turned the corner into his own street.

His young namesake would have been jumping for the funny papers before he'd have been able to get into the house; and once inside, his wife would have told him about the new blossoms in the garden as he washed for dinner. Maybe he'd have topped off the meal with cherry pie and later in the evening he might have orated long and loud on the virtues or evils of his favorite subject—politics. He might have done all that and gone to bed with no greater worry than the thought of having to pay the light bill in the morning.

That's what it is to be an American. It's waking up with nothing to mar the sky but a cloud that looks like rain. It's celebrating the Fourth of July—INDEPENDENCE DAY—with a family picnic. It's writing a letter to the editor and telling him what's wrong with the government, or it's a year going by without seeing a soldier. It means all this to be an American. . . and it's GREAT.—Memphis Labor Review, reprint

Monroe District Fair To Open September 7th

The Monroe District Fairgrounds is being put in shape for the opening of the fair on Sept. 7th. A fine program has been arranged for the public and many exhibitors have signified their intentions of showing at this year's fair.

On Saturday, the opening day of the fair, the Olympic Deathdodgers will put on a thrill show. This thrill show will not be an ordinary show of its kind. It will be put on by some of the highest classed thrill artists of America. Thirteen big thrill acts have been arranged to entertain the public, featuring head on collisions between automobiles at a high rate of speed, tumbling and rolling cars over, jumping cars off high ramps in the air and many more sensational features.

On Sunday, Monroe will see a new form of entertainment for this section of the state. A new fifth of a mile race track has been built inside of the half mile track and mid-get automobile races will be a big feature. Thousands of gallons of oil have been applied to the new track to keep the dirt and dust down. Such nationally known drivers as: Sorenson of Waukegan; McQuinn of Indianapolis; Zale Duncan; O'Halloran Cowboy O'Rourke of Chicago, Willman of Milwaukee and many others have signified their intention of being at the opening of this new track. The management of the races will be done by the men who have so successfully operated similar races at the Grundy County fair

On Monday, the Olympic Death Dodgers will again fly around the speedways crashing through board walls, driving through flaming gasoline at breakneck speed, with many other thrills for young and old.

And we must not forget the night shows. There will be many high class vaudeville acts and a grand display of fireworks each night.

The Dispensa Carnival Co., will furnish the rides and amusements for the midway. There will be amusements of every kind for both young and old. The large dance pavillion will operate every night with the best music obtainable.

Mr. Chas. Stassen of Monroe, who has been connected with the fair organization for many years is the President and W. W. Martin of Joliet the Secretary. It will be a big time for Will County and Monroe, so be on hand to help celebrate the opening of Monroe's new fair.

Attention Republicans

Due to the many inquiries regarding campaign fund raising, Ben L. Berve, chairman of the Illinois Rep. State Central committee, today issued the following statement:

"In every campaign, dozens of 'unofficial' fund-raising groups spring up all over the state and most of them claim to represent the regular party organization.

"In Illinois, there is only one official fund raising organization and that is The Republican Finance Committee of Illinois, headed by Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, 80 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago.

"Chain letter schemes and other illegal devices have absolutely no authorization from the Republican State Central Committee. Many of these are direct violations of the law and participants are liable to prosecution."

C'MON OVER AND COOL OFF
OUR WHOLE HOUSE IS LIKE A SLEEPING PORCH!

That's right! With this new cooling system we sleep under covers, even on hottest nights.

This is the coolest spot I've been in all day... and you say it's like this every night?

After sundown, I switch on the fan—it forces hot, sticky air out—pulls in cool, refreshing night air through open downstairs windows.

NIGHT AIR COOLING SYSTEMS

KEEP YOUR HOME COOL AND COMFORTABLE ALL NIGHT LONG! — ALL SUMMER LONG!

You'll sleep better, even on hottest summer nights with a Night Air Cooling System in your home. This quiet, efficient cooling system is one of the simplest ever devised. Can be easily installed and costs but a few cents a day to operate.

Variety of Special Equipment Available For Night Air Cooling...

Fans used in the Night Air Cooling System displace 10 times as much air as ordinary desk or room fans. It is this tremendous power that pulls in cool night air throughout an entire house or floor.

Attractive portable models can be put into instant action in any room in the house or can be placed in the attic. Built-in attic models can be permanently installed with a minimum of muss and bother.

Also a complete line of Electric Room Coolers — all sizes and types — available on Easy Payment Purchase Plans.

ORLAND PARKPLAN STREET
OPENING FESTIVITIES

A large crowd is expected to attend the festivities planned for Orland Park on September 10th at 8:00 p. m. Mrs. Adele Cooper, music chairman of the Orland Woman's Club, which is sponsoring the event in conjunction with the Village Board, announces that the Illinois Music Project, unit of the Illinois Music Project, would present a free concert in the business district at the corner of 143rd Street and Union Avenue in Orland Park.

An interesting and varied program is promised. The "Star Spangled Banner" will open the event and the program will close with the audience singing "God Bless America". Other selections on the program include Overture to "William Tell" by Rossini, "London Suite" by Coates, Waltz "Beautiful Blue Danube" by Strauss, Memories of Stephen Foster, arr. by Caillet, Selections from "Madam Butterfly" by Puccini, "The Rosary" by Nevin, Trumpet Solo, by Anthony Peluso, "Espana" --Spanish Rhapsody by Chabrier, Mardi Gras from "Mississippi Suite" by Grofe, "The Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa.

The Illinois Concert Band, a major unit of the Illinois music project under the authoritative leadership of Max Bendix, is composed of 44 professional musicians who perform a varied and extensive repertoire of classical and popular selections. It has become identified as an integral part of the project's music appreciation activities in the Chicago public schools, having performed the compositions of the masters for thousands of children in correlation with the latter's curriculum.

The distinguished musical career of Max Bendix, director of the Illinois Concert Band, extends through more than fifty years. He was both concertmaster and conductor of the famed Metropolitan and Hammerstein -- Manhattan Grand Opera companies in New York and the old National Symphony Orchestra in Chicago.

Concertmaster under the late Theodore Thomas in New York, he assumed the same post when Thomas founded the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. He was celebrated as a band conductor at the 1893 Columbian Exposition in Chicago, at the St. Louis and San Francisco World Fairs and at A Century of Progress in Chicago in 1933 and 1934. His experience is and his knowledge of the field of musical literature ably qualify him as a builder of programs best suited to develop children's latent appreciation of the classics.

A Prayer For Peace

ALMIGHTY GOD, Who art the father of all men upon the earth, most heartily we pray that Thou wilt deliver Thy children from the cruelties of war and lead all the nations into the way of peace. Teach us to put away all bitterness and misunderstanding, both in Church and in State; that we, with all the brethren of the Son of Man, may draw together as one comity of peoples and dwell evermore in the fellowship of that Prince of Peace, who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the unity of the Holy Spirit, now and ever. Amen.

Taxpayers Kill Proposed Tax Raise

A number of the taxpayers present shouted questions on why the county board allowed the bonding company and surities of Herbert Jones and Connie Wirth get by without making good on the entire amounts misappropriated from the county funds and Attorney Krusemark went into details on how he fought against the settlement in the Jones case, but was unable to stop the settlement which meant a big loss to the county.

Supervisor Heeg of DuPage township declared that if the hundreds of thousands of dollars misappropriated from the county funds in the last few years had been returned to the county treasury the county would not be in the red. He stated that those guilty of misusing the county funds paid high pressure lawyers $10,000 and were freed.

C. M. Cleveland of Frankfort township asked Supervisor Heeg why members of election boards were being paid $5 and $10 per day and suggested cutting down on this item of election expense whereupon Supervisor Heeg declared that the pay of election boards is fixed by the state law and that the county board cannot make any changes. He further pointed out that members of election boards often times are on duty from 6 a. m. until 10 p. m., and often as late as 1 a. m., and that in comparison with the work they perform they do not receive as much salary as a WPA worker.

The per diem fees of members of the county board were assailed and it was suggested the fees be cut down from $4 and $5 to $3.

U. S. G. Blakely of Plainfield, former editor of the Plainfield Enterprise tossed a bomb shell when he went into details setting forth how the Board of Supervisors have squandered public money. He cited that in one instance it was found necessary to move a telephone. The telephone company charged $5 for moving the phone and that the committee supervising the changing of the phone put in a bill for $20 for committee fees. In another instance a desk stored in the court house was sold for $5 but the committee making the sale filed a claim for $25 for committee fees. In still another case a new door had to be made in one of the court house offices. The cost of material and labor came to $60 but the committee in charge of this particular job asked $300 for committee fees.

Mr. Blakely charged the County Board with incompetency for allowing such waste of public funds.

Attorney Louis Laggar and many others made statements opposing any tax increase now.

The public too, is not blameless. Many times things are demanded of the county board with which the public could do without and with no distinct disadvantage.

It will be recalled that not so long ago there was a determined agitation on the part of high pressure Joliet groups for a new courthouse and jail as a PWA project, but the county was asked to pay a substantial amount toward the project. Thousands of dollars were spent for architects drawings, election expenses, etc., and the proposition was defeated. The money was thus spent foolishly and was another step to placing the county in the red.

Foolish spending, excessive committee fees, spending beyond the budget allowance and stealing of county funds has placed the county in the shape it is in now and the taxpayers do not feel that they should be asked to pay for the folly of incompetent public officials.

A red hot protest meeting was held in the Frankfort Village Hall last Friday night on the tax question.

A New Note In National Politics

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

One of the most striking aftermaths of the recent Republican Convention at Philadelphia is the almost unanimous conclusion among trained observers that a new note had been struck in National politics.

In the nomination of Wendell Willkie, such observers agree, delegates and party heads had heard and responded to the voice of the American people calling for a leader.

Not only from crowded galleries, but by mail and wire from the folks back home, came the insistent demand. And when it was heeded, the volume of approval from both the press and the people was overwhelming.

How, it has been asked, did this widespread demand for a leader with neither political experience nor organization arise? Much of the answer may be found in the message of the nominee himself.

Consistently for many months, Willkie has been reaching the public with a message of confidence in the achievements of the American Nation and the ability of the American people. And after seven years of being told by office-holders that Americans had reached the limits of their development; that their only hope was to abandon our tradition of self-government and surrender all authority to the politicians in temporary power; the people welcomed such expression of self-reliant Americanism.

After listening for seven years to a reiterated philosophy of defeatism, they responded with true American spirit to a man from the people who was not afraid to tell them that:

"We believe in ourselves—the American people. We believe in our own ingenuity, our own energies, and our own sense of fairness . . ."

"I'll never seek to lead people down the soft way. I will tell people, not about the national grab-bag, but about the satisfaction that comes with work and service and achievement . . ."

"We do not want monopolistic government any more than we want monopolistic industry . . ."

"We must put into office the kind of government in which we have confidence and which, in turn, has confidence in us—a government that will waken and liberate the chained and sleeping giant of America . . ."

"Farming, business and industry have made this country great—not government . . ."

"The purpose of government is to make men free. Their freedom must be economic as well as political. Unemployed men are not free men . . ."

"The great days of America are by no means done. We have only touched the border of achievement. If I did not believe this I would not believe in America. Because that faith is America . . ."

There sounds the American Spirit—on a note that the American people have been waiting to hear.

FIGURE FUN

By Theodore W. Gibson

A MULTIPLICATION METHOD

The usual method of multiplying which is taught in school is illustrated on the right. In this method the operation is done by starting with the right-hand figure of the multiplier and working to the left, placing the first figure of each result under the figure by which you are multiplying.

It often happens, however, that you have the numbers to be multiplied written near the left side of the paper, and the use of the regular method will make the work run off the sheet. In this case, the numbers are usually rewritten out where there will be more room.

5374 x 235 ----- 16122 16122 ----- 1262890	5374 x 235 ----- 16122 16122 ----- 1262890

The extra labor, with its chance for a mistake in copying, can be avoided by using the other method illustrated at the left. Here we start with the left-hand figure and proceed to multiply, writing the result as shown; then work to the right, moving each result one place in that direction.

Comparison of the two methods shows that the same identical figures are obtained throughout, but the work travels over to the right as desired.

Baffles American Tourists

The thing that always baffles American cruise passengers passing through the Panama canal is to see the sun rise from the Pacific at Panama City and set in the Atlantic at Colon. The reason is that the canal runs from the northwest at Colon to the southeast at Panama City and although Panama City is on the Pacific, it is east of Colon, which is on the Atlantic. Officers of the Grace Line ships have the most difficult time explaining this and, when a passenger asks whether the ship is proceeding east or west and the steward correctly replies that she is moving either north or south, an argument is certain to ensue.

Animals Dumb?

Crater Lake National park officials thought they had something new when three park bears refused to hibernate for the winter, along with a hundred or so of their fellows. Were they ignoring the habit of bears since time began, the officials pondered?

But the animals' sleek appearance pointed to a solution of the riddle. With their fellows out of the way, these three had the park garbage dump to themselves, and they were making the most of it.

Shortage of Cod Liver

Here is good news for the children! Because of the invasion of Scandinavia by Germany, 70 per cent of the cod liver oil vitamin supply to the United States has been closed, according to the American Pharmaceutical association.

Spiders in War

Instead of killing spiders, reports Pathfinder, Britons are catching them and forwarding them in cardboard boxes to the ministry of supply. In a radio appeal for spiders, the ministry explained that spider webs are used to make gratitudes (squares and cross-sights) on wartime telescopes and binoculars. Spiders, it was explained, weave webs that seldom vary in diameter: "Spider web is much stronger than one might imagine. It has an even thickness and will withstand the shock of gunfire."

Economical Shortcuts to Savory Entrees

Each of the cans of salmon on the homemaker's pantry shelf represents an economical shortcut to a delectable seafood dinner. For this familiar food staple is ocean-fresh salmon, sealed in sterilized cans within a few hours of the time it was caught in the clear, cold waters of the North Pacific, and cooked under pressure to just the right degree of tender flakiness. Thus the generous slice of colorful canned salmon is ready to serve, hot or cold, with savory sauces or salad dressings.

This classic service of the versatile seafood may be accompanied by virtually any vegetable garnish. Salmon with asparagus is an especially delicious combination and one that is as colorful as it is savory! For this service, the salmon is heated by placing the unopened can in boiling water for ten minutes. It is then transferred to the center of a hot platter, surrounded by four servings of cooked asparagus and served with tartar sauce and lemon garnish.

Canned salmon is also delicious separated into large sized flakes, brushed with French dressing and browned quickly under a hot broiler. Such "fillets" may also be dipped in mayonnaise, rolled in cracker crumbs and toasted in a hot oven.

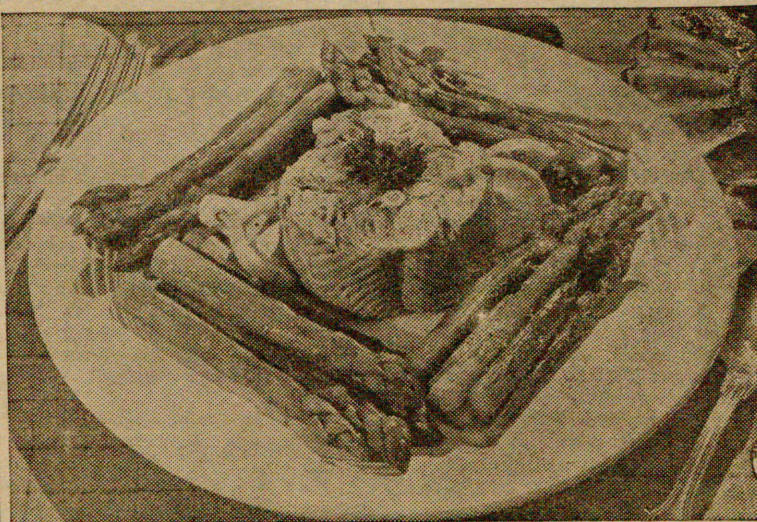

And when the first cool days of autumn bring French fried foods into their own again, a salmon fritter will be rightly timed for dinner service. Delicious mouthfuls of this rich flavored seafood dipped in a plain batter mixture and fried to a crisp golden brown make a main dish fritter that is a top ranker for both flavor and food value.

Easy to prepare entrees such as these should occupy an important place in the seafood sections of busy homemaker's cookbooks and recipe files. For in addition to saving her much time and energy, they are genuine economy dishes, furnishing a maximum of flavor and food value at a minimum price. Canned salmon supplies each of these quick entrees with substantial stores of protein, calcium, phosphorus, iodine and vitamins A, D and G.

Recipes for these and other savory main dishes follow:

SALMON FRITTERS

(Serves 4)
1 pound canned salmon (beaten)
1 cup flour
3 tablespoons butter (melted)
2 eggs yolks (beaten)
¾ cup milk
Add melted butter to egg yolks and milk. Blend liquid ingredients into flour to make smooth batter. Separate salmon into large sized flakes. Dip in batter and fry in deep fat until batter is browned—about three minutes. Serve with lemon slices and tartar sauce.

SALMON BACON PATS

(Serves 6 or 8)
2 pounds canned salmon (finely minced)
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup juice from cans of salmon
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon onion (minced)
1 teaspoon salt
dash pepper, dash sage
6-8 slices bacon

Combine bread crumbs, salmon juice, egg, and flaked salmon. Blend in onion, parsley and seasonings. Form into patties. Wrap slice of bacon around each, fasten with toothpick. Bake in oven (450 degrees) for fifteen minutes until bacon is crisp. Remove from oven and serve on platter with persillade potatoes.

SALMON STUFFED TOMATOES

(Serves 6)
6 even-sized tomatoes
1 pound canned salmon
½ cup soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon onion (minced)
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon parsley (chopped)
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
¼ cup American cheese

Flake the salmon. Remove one inch slices from tops of tomatoes and scoop out pulp. Reserve juice and pulp for use in filling. Combine flaked salmon, bread crumbs and tomato juice. Brown the onion in butter and add onion and melted butter to mixture. Season with parsley, salt and pepper. Fill salmon mixture into tomato cups and top each stuffed tomato with slice of American cheese. Place in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for twenty minutes until tomatoes are baked and cheese is melted and browned. Serve hot.

SOUTHERN SALMON CUTLETS

1 pound canned salmon
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 egg yolk
¼ cup mayonnaise dressing
1 tablespoon green pepper (chopped)
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 egg (slightly beaten)

Blend flaked salmon, seasonings, egg yolk, mayonnaise, green pepper and one-half cup of the cracker crumbs. Form into cakes. Dip first in beaten egg, then in cracker crumbs. Fry in hot fat until golden brown. (If deep fat is used fry at approximately 370 degrees.)

SAUCES FOR CANNED SALMON

Egg Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup milk
Liquor from can of salmon
Salt and pepper
2 hard cooked eggs
Chopped parsley for garnish

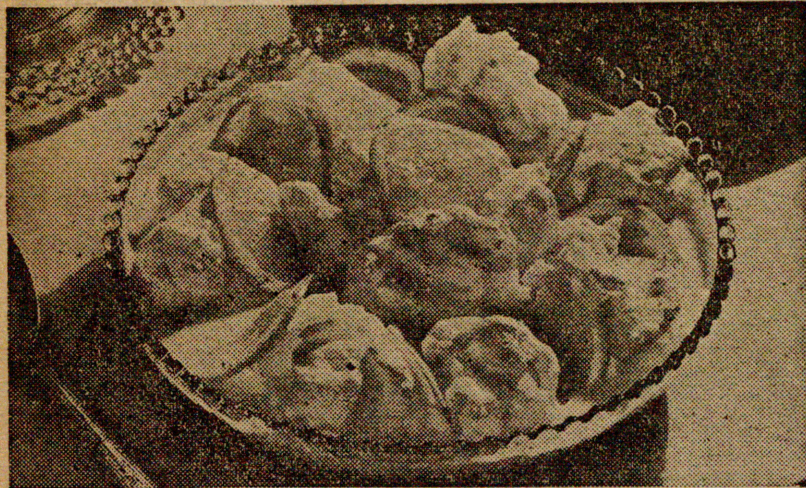

Melt butter, add flour, stir until smooth. Add milk and salmon liquor. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until thick. Season with salt and pepper. Add chopped eggs and serve over heated canned salmon. Sprinkle chopped parsley over egg sauce if desired.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 egg yolks (beaten)
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Place a third portion of the butter in a double boiler. Add lemon juice and beaten eggs. Place over hot water. Add second and third portions of butter gradually as butter melts into mixture. Stir briskly until mixture begins to thicken. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve at once.

DESSERTS FOR THE BEGINNER

(Recipes Below)

With fall fast creeping upon us, you brides of the past few months are eagerly looking forward to the end of the vacation season. Then you can proudly show to your friends and newly acquired relatives that you are becoming not only a proficient hostess and homemaker, but also a first-rate cook.

Perhaps you'll decide upon a tea for your friends, serving dainty sandwiches, small cookies or tiny frosted cakes. But the families usually anticipate a family dinner which tends to make the bride feel that they will arrive with an extremely healthy appetite and a critical eye.

When you plan your first family dinner, select a menu that is not only simple to prepare and easy to serve, but one that will require only a few minutes in the kitchen.

Start the meal off with a bang! Create a favorable impression right at the beginning of the meal. An appetizer that is fairly highly seasoned, small in amount, piping hot or well chilled, and one that whets the appetite instead of retarding it, will insure a successful meal. The guests' natural curiosity will be appeased, and they will settle back in their chairs satisfied that the "new cook" is a good one.

The bride who can make a perfect floating island need not dread the problem of company dessert. There is nothing more delicious or generally welcome than the old favorite, especially when it is made with orange juice and combined with slices or segments of the fresh fruit.

It is not the only "easy-to-make" beginner's recipe, but you will find that the others will help you in selecting your company desserts. Many of them are suitable when you entertain at a dessert luncheon, or after an evening of cards.

Orange Floating Island.

(Serves 6)

3 eggs (slightly beaten)
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 cups milk (scalded)
1/2 cup orange juice
2 egg whites (beaten stiff)
1/4 cup confectioner's sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Orange segments or slices
Combine egg yolks, salt and sugar; gradually stir in hot milk and orange juice. Cook over boiling water 5 minutes or until mixture will coat metal spoon, stirring constantly. Cool quickly in large serving dish or sherbet glasses or sauce dishes.

To make the "islands": beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in the confectioner's sugar and add the vanilla extract. Drop by spoonfuls onto custard. Chill. Garnish with wafer-thin slices of the whole, unpeeled orange or with orange segments.

Frozen Rice Pudding.

(Serves 6)

1/2 cup rice
1 quart milk
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
3 eggs (beaten)
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
1 cup cream (whipped)

Wash and cook rice in boiling water for 5 minutes. Drain. Put rice, milk, sugar, salt, and nutmeg in the top of a double boiler and cook 45 minutes. Stir in slowly the beaten eggs and continue cooking 5 minutes more. Add flavorings, chill and then fold in the whipped cream. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator. Set cold control to lowest degree and freeze.

Chocolate Marshmallow Cake.

(Serves 6-8)

1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate (1 1/2 ounces)
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening
2/3 cup sugar
2 eggs (beaten)
1/4 cup milk

Cook chocolate, 2 tablespoons sugar and water together until thick (about 3 minutes), stirring constantly. Cool thoroughly, and add vanilla. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, add 2/3 cup sugar, gradually, and continue beating until the mixture is very light and fluffy. Add dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Pour batter into well-greased deep layer-cake pan. Cover with topping.

Topping — 1 egg white
1/2 cup sugar
8 marshmallows (cut in small pieces)
1/2 square unsweetened chocolate (1/2 ounce)

Beat egg white until foamy; add sugar gradually and continue beating until the egg white is very stiff. Fold in the cut marshmallows. Spread over cake batter; grate chocolate and sprinkle over the meringue. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 minutes.

Apple Seventh Heaven.

(Serves 5-6)

6 apples
3/4 cup golden corn syrup
1/2 cup butter
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup nut meats (cut fine)

Pare and core the apples, and cut in eighths. Arrange in rows in a shallow, well-buttered baking pan.

Heat syrup, butter, cinnamon and salt to the boiling point, and pour over the apples. Sprinkle with nut meats. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) for about 30 minutes. Serve warm or cold with top milk or cream.

Peach Cobbler.

(Serves 6)

2 cups bread flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup lard
1 egg yolk (slightly beaten)
1/2 cup milk
6 peach halves (canned or fresh)
12 blanched almonds (cut in pieces)
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon butter

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard. Combine beaten egg yolk, with milk, and add to lard mixture, forming a soft dough. Roll dough into two squares, about 1/4 inch thick, and place on square in a greased square baking dish. Arrange peach halves on dough and add almonds, sugar, and cinnamon. Dot with butter and cover with second square of dough. Prick with fork and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for approximately 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with whipped cream.

Bavarian Cream With Jelly Garnish.

(Serves 6)

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups whipping cream
1 glass currant jelly.

Soak gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water for 5 minutes. Make a syrup of the boiling water and sugar and pour over the gelatin. Add lemon extract, lemon juice and salt and mix thoroughly. Chill until mixture just begins to stiffen. Then whip and fold in 1/2 cup of whipping cream. Pour into ring mold and chill thoroughly. When ready to serve fill center of ring mold with whipped cream and garnish with dots of currant jelly.

Hiker Undertakes 3,400-Mile Tramp; Conquers Jungle

Finds Toughest Going Over Mountains of Southern Costa Rica.

MEXICO CITY.—John Francis Stahl, a San Francisco postman, quit work to take a 3,400-mile hike for his health. He started from Balboa, on the Panama canal, to make his way to Austin, Texas, afoot, over the route of the projected Pan-American highway to South America.

But there is no highway there now. This determined, 57-year-old man, who suffered a physical breakdown five years ago, picked his way through the jungles and over the craggy mountains of Central America alone. He arrived in Mexico City, with 2,500 miles behind him, and set out after a brief rest for Austin, 950 miles away. He said he hadn't hitchhiked a step of the way.

In Quest of Health.

Stahl decided on his strange journey without the advice of his doctor. "I just thought I'd start out," he said, "thinking maybe I'd feel better. And I've always wanted to make the trip."

Not out for any speed record, he averaged about 15 miles a day, was laid up the first day out with swollen feet, which delayed him eight days. Aside from that, the stretch between Panama and Mexico was singularly free from misfortune. He didn't even see any deadly snakes or wild beasts.

Toughest going, he said, was over the mountains of southern Costa Rica and fighting mosquitoes through Nicaragua. Although his route was along the one stretch of the Pan-American highway that is finished it's a long way between towns in some areas of northern Mexico and Stahl believed he might run short of food or water in those stretches.

Always Carries Bible.

Stahl carried a machete from Balboa to Costa Rica, but then discarded it and was completely unarmed. He carried only a Bible and a little cash. He started out with $40, but sent $25 of that to his wife in San Francisco.

Through the wild Central American country Stahl would try to plan in advance to hit some village where he could spend the night. Frequently he asked natives to take him in. He ate what they ate and carried hardly any food with him. He swallowed five grains of quinine a day and felt fine most of the way.

Stahl carried an autograph book, filled with signatures and with immigration stamps. He also proudly displayed a letter of introduction from Angelo J. Rossi, mayor of San Francisco. He made his way with various maps and even railroad timetables.

Famous Grave Marker of Massachusetts Is Stolen

PELHAM, MASS.—One of the nation's most famous gravestones has been stolen from Knight's cemetery and now is the object of an intensive police search.

Though a simple slate marker, the stone is widely known for the epitaph, often seen in books and quoted in lectures on historic New England. It reads:

"Warren Gibbs died by poison, March 23, 1860.

Think my friends when this you see.

How my wife hath dealt by me. She in some oysters did prepare Some poison for my lot and share. Then of the same I did partake And nature yielded to its fate. Before she my wife became Mary Felton was her name. Erected by his brother, William Gibbs."

More Books Are Provided For Low-Income Homes

SEATTLE.—Through the efforts of the state department of education and civic groups, literature is entering homes which otherwise could not afford books.

Superintendent of Education Stanley F. Atwood said fraternal and civic bodies are collecting books which had outlived their usefulness. These are given to schools which, in turn, give them outright to pupils.

This distribution, he said, "is confined very largely to rural communities."

Overturned Truck Stirs

Up $3,000 Scrambled Eggs

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.—A $3,000 omelet was ready for the stove on a nearby highway after a truck loaded with 275 crates left the road and overturned. Authorities said the steering mechanism locked.

Aaron Applebaum, the owner, estimated the damage at $3,000, but salvaged some unbroken eggs and retrieved most of the occupants of eight chicken cages who were freed in the accident. The chickens were uninjured.

Children's Toy Quarrel

Brings Police in Hurry

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—"Calling all cars! Calling all cars!"

A Schenectady police radio car sped to a house in Duane avenue. An excited woman had reported a disturbance at the residence.

The trouble—one child had taken another child's toys and refused to return them.

Liver Extract For Treating Anemia Cases

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN Drs. Minot and Murphy discovered that eating calf's liver daily would prevent death from pernicious anemia, the demand for calf's liver was so great that provision merchants were unable to supply the demand. The fact that cow's and pig's liver were effective in building up red cells has brought the cost of calf's liver to a more reasonable price.

However, while it is comforting to the patient to know that liver will keep him alive, he may grow tired of liver as it means eating about a half pound of liver six days a week, or a third of a pound a day. Accordingly, many hospitals and physicians have devised various ways of making liver attractive to the taste.

As there are many who cannot eat liver and others who dislike it but can eat it, a liver extract is now available which undergoes government inspection. For those who cannot eat liver, taking the extract five times a week by mouth is not so difficult.

Moreover, it is possible for these anemic patients to get liver extract by injections into the muscles, taken one each week or even one every two weeks.

Daily Injections for a Month.

For those who cannot, or do not wish to, visit the physician for the intramuscular injections, injecting the liver extract daily into the veins directly once a month has been found effective. In about 10 per cent of cases the injection into the veins gives too severe a reaction.

It will be gratifying to pernicious anemia patients and their families to know that while there may be 57 different ways of preparing liver for the table, these other methods—liver extract, liver and stomach mixtures, liver and vitamin mixtures and yeast—can all be taken by mouth; also that liver extract need be injected but once a week into the muscles and once a month into the veins to keep the number of the red blood cells up to normal.

Aid in Overcoming Asthmatic Attacks

IT HAS been found that in a great many cases attacks of asthma are due to inhaling substances to which the individual is sensitive or allergic—fur, feathers, house dust. Accordingly, scratch tests—scratching the surface of the skin and applying some of the suspected substances or substance to the scratch—are made. This may take a considerable time and at the end of the tests it may be found that a nose defect, some food, or other condition is the cause.

To find out whether it is something in the air of the room that is responsible for the attacks, a room should be made free of all substances that could be to blame.

A Method Worthy of Trial.

Dr. Jonathan Forman, Columbus, in Ohio State Medical Journal, states that a room can be made free of substances that could possibly cause the attacks by removing every object from the room and thoroughly cleaning the walls and woodwork with a brush and clean warm water to which has been added some water softener such as trisacrophosphate.

Furniture such as an upholstered rocking chair, a hard straight chair, and an army cot, is also washed carefully and returned to the room. Pillows are to be filled with feathers properly enclosed in a material such as oil cloth, which will not allow any feather dust to come out. The oil cloth cover should be large enough to allow the pillow to be squeezed down by the weight of the head without forcing out dust. Clean linen should be used.

The windows and heat registers must be carefully washed and tightly closed to prevent air, smoke or dust from entering. The adjacent hall and bathroom should also be cleaned and kept free from cosmetics, perfumes and dusts. If air is too dry, some boiling water—on a hot plate—should be used.

After a few days confinement to these quarters, if there are no complications, the patient will improve.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What foods are richest in the riboflavin vitamin?

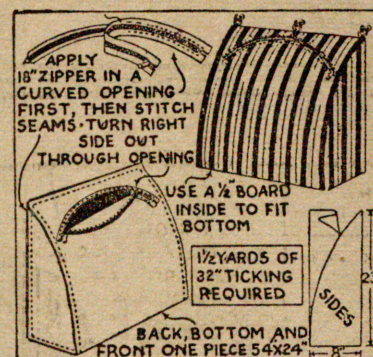

A.—The riboflavin vitamin, vitamin B₂, is contained in peanuts. Brewer's yeast has a large quantity. Dairy products, fruits and vegetables all carry vitamin B₂, but the amount available is not always in proportion to amount body can use.

Q.—What causes coated tongue?

A.—A coated tongue may be due to infected teeth, gums, tonsils, catarrh, or to constipation.

NOTHING ELSE SO DELICIOUS

THAT'S SO GOOD FOR YOU!

See how oranges help!

Fully half our families are getting too little vitamins and minerals to feel their best, says the Department of Agriculture.

It's easy to get more of these essentials—merely by making oranges your family's daily refreshment!

Peel and eat them. Keep ready a big pitcher of fresh orangeade. Or better yet—Have big, 8-ounce glasses of fresh orange juice with breakfast daily. This gives you all the vitamin C you normally need. Adds vitamins A, B₁ and G and the minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron.

SPECIAL - TO INTRODUCE PHILGAS

That's the experience of typical Philgas users: four persons in the family, eating three meals per day, for 21 days. At $1.35 per "package," cooking costs are less than 1/2¢ per meal per person!

You've always wanted the speed, cleanliness and cooking perfection of modern gas cooking—and now you can use Philgas (bottled natural gas) at a cost comparable to kerosene cooking costs! Why wait longer? See the modern Philgas ranges at our store—TODAY!

We will accept this ad as a $5.00 payment on a new range with Philgas installation, selling at $69.50 or over. This offer expires September 14th. We have a special stove installation as low as $39.50. This includes 2 cylinders of

Crops Get a Good Start with the McCormick-Deering Little Genius Plow

THE whole scheme of crop production hinges on good plowing. It pays to have the best plows you can get. McCormick-Deering Plows have three generations of plow-building experience behind them and are as good as money can buy.

The Little Genius Tractor Plow in 2, 3, and 4-furrow sizes is one of the most popular plows in the McCormick-Deering line. It is built to stand up in any field and to do good, clean work under all conditions. Its parts are held in true alignment even in the hardest kind of plowing. Ample beam and bottom clearance prevents clogging. It is equipped with a spring-trip hitch with a lift-up handle which enables the operator to recouple the plow easily without leaving the tractor seat.

Come in and ask us about the Little Genius Plow and other types of McCormick-Deering Plows and Equipment.

Printing

Is But a Small Part of the Cost

IN getting out a circular, circular letter or other piece of printed matter. The paper, the addressing, the mailing easily total more than the printing. Yet, in a large measure, the Results Depend Upon the Printing.

Let us show you some samples to illustrate our statement

We Do But One Kind of Printing

No matter how small the order, no matter how big... we have but one standard by which we measure our efforts in handling it. We are satisfied only when it is

The Best We Can Do
